

Recorder Karate

Fingering Chart

Musical notation for C (middle C) on a treble clef staff. The fingering chart shows a black dot above the first finger hole, and all other finger holes (left and right) are open (white).

Musical notation for D on a treble clef staff. The fingering chart shows a black dot above the first finger hole, a black dot in the second finger hole, and all other finger holes are open (white).

Musical notation for E on a treble clef staff. The fingering chart shows a black dot above the first finger hole, black dots in the second and third finger holes, and all other finger holes are open (white).

Musical notation for F on a treble clef staff. The fingering chart shows a black dot above the first finger hole, black dots in the second and third finger holes, and the fourth finger hole is open (white).

Musical notation for F# on a treble clef staff. The fingering chart shows a black dot above the first finger hole, black dots in the second and third finger holes, and the fourth finger hole is open (white).

Musical notation for G on a treble clef staff. The fingering chart shows a black dot above the first finger hole, black dots in the second and third finger holes, and the fourth finger hole is open (white).

Musical notation for G# on a treble clef staff. The fingering chart shows a black dot above the first finger hole, black dots in the second and third finger holes, and the fourth finger hole is open (white).

Musical notation for A on a treble clef staff. The fingering chart shows a black dot above the first finger hole, black dots in the second and third finger holes, and the fourth finger hole is open (white).

Musical notation for Bb on a treble clef staff. The fingering chart shows a black dot above the first finger hole, black dots in the second and third finger holes, and the fourth finger hole is open (white).

Musical notation for B on a treble clef staff. The fingering chart shows a black dot above the first finger hole, black dots in the second and third finger holes, and the fourth finger hole is open (white).

Musical notation for C' (one octave above middle C) on a treble clef staff. The fingering chart shows a black dot above the first finger hole, and all other finger holes are open (white).

Musical notation for D' on a treble clef staff. The fingering chart shows a black dot above the first finger hole, a black dot in the second finger hole, and all other finger holes are open (white).

Musical notation for E' on a treble clef staff. The fingering chart shows a black dot above the first finger hole, black dots in the second and third finger holes, and all other finger holes are open (white).