

Music Quote of the Month:

“Music is the poetry of the air.”

- Jean Paul Richter

April in Review

- Pre-K: We have been listening to, and talking about, the Carnival of the Animals and learning (and loving) the song Baby Beluga!
- Kindergarten: We have been hard at work learning the songs and dances for this year's Kindergarten Play, "Where the Wild Things Are."
- First Grade: April was all about Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf" where we learned about different instruments and their unique sounds.
- Second Grade: We focused on learning all about different musical symbols and played lots of fun games to help us remember all of them!
- Third Grade: We learned a new type of rhythm - a "Frankenstein Rhythm" that combined two other rhythms we worked with this year.
- Fourth Grade: We continued exploring the strings family (and trying out the ukuleles) before reviewing musical symbols.
- Fifth Grade: We finished up learning about jazz music and started working on a variety of musical topics from musical symbols to Patriotic music.
- Sixth Grade: We moved onto the Modern Era and listened to everything from jazz music to experimental, 12-tone with unusual instruments, too!
